

FIN4241 Cases Studies in Finance (Internship substitute)

Code

FIN4241

Title

Cases Studies in Finance (Internship substitute)

Prerequisites

FIN3210, FIN3220, FIN3230 and 90 credits completed

Credits

3

Description

" This course is designed to use case studies in financial decision making to further the student's knowledge and ability to make prudent financial management decisions. Select cases will be assigned for analysis and preparation of proposed solutions. The class will contain discussions the cases, the student's proposal for solutions, and desired courses of action. The cases will be such that students will be required to use prior knowledge and a good deal of analytical ability. "

Outcomes

"Upon completion of this course, a student should be able to demonstrate the following LOs: A. Evaluate financial decision-making. B. Explain ethical considerations for valuation purposes. C. Describe a firm's process for ethical decision-making. D. Discuss the impact of ethics on financial decision-making. E. Recognize examples of unethical corporate governance and behavior.

Assessment

60 % -first and second assessments

40 % -final assessment